Hot competition in 34th Finke Desert Race

THE biggest desert race in the nation and richest in the Southern Hemisphere will take place between two of the most remote points in the world this weekend.

496 motorbike riders will line up for the 34th year of the Finke Desert Race, starting in Alice Springs on Saturday.

Each year, the event attracts more than 14 000 fans over three days. Spectators line the track from the town of Alice Springs, all the way to the remote community of Finke.
